

New Jersey building ... [1893].

New Jersey Building

This building is a reproduction of Washington's Headquarters at Morristown, New Jersey. Under the roof of that house more noted men of the Revolution have gathered than under any roof in America.

General Washington made this building his quarters during the severe winter of 1779-80 and Alexander Hamilton lived there during that same long winter, and there he met and courted the lady he afterwards married, the daughter of General Schuyler. Celebrated men, including Greene, Knox, Lafayette, Steuben, Kosciusko, Schuyler, "Light Horse" Harry Lee, old Israel Putnam, "Mad Anthony" Wayne, and that brave soldier but rank traitor, Benedict Arnold, have all been beneath its roof.

This building is still standing and is now in possession of the Washington Association of New Jersey, for the purpose of maintaining it, through future generations, sacred with its peculiar historic associations.

WOMAN'S BUILDING

Among fourteen competing architects who submitted their plans and specifications to the commission for the erection of the State Building those of Mr. Charles Alling Gifford, of Newark, N. J., were selected, and the present structure which has been greatly admired, is in accordance therewith. The contractor and builder was Mr. James W. Lanning, of Trenton, N. J., who faithfully carried out the designs of the architect. The ornamental bricks of the fire places were presented to the Commission by the Eastern Hydraulic Pressed Brick Co., a branch of whose extensive works is located at Winslow, Camden County, N. J.

The beautiful Tiling was the gift of the Trent Tile Co., of Trenton, N. J., and the perfect sanitary plumbing, also donated, is from the establishment of Thos. Maddock & Sons, and the Crescent Pottery Co., also of Trenton, N. J.

The Wall Paper for the entire building was the gift of Janeway & Carpenter, of New Brunswick, N. J., and their branch establishment in Chicago, Ill., represented by Janeway & Co.

The universal admiration bestowed by all visitors to the headquarters is a fitting and merited endorsement of the tasteful designs, beauty of finish, and careful reproduction of the old Colonial style of furniture, furnished from the extensive warehouses of the Tobey Furniture Co., of Chicago, Ill.

The elegant upright piano which ornaments the main reception hall is from the celebrated manufactory of Sohmer & Co., New York, who tendered its gratuitous use to the Commission during the entire continuance of the Exposition.
